

□□□□□□□□□□'□□ □□□□□□□□ □□□□ □□□□□□ □□□□□□□□□□.

Credit to SEGA® for the characters, who also owns their rights.

PapyrusFool for the story.

Intro to Sonic:

Hey guys! Sonic here! Ya'll know me by now, but if you don't... You should look me up on wikipedia, even though Tails has been blabbering about how it's not a "reliable" source. But if you don't know who Tails is, look him up on wikipedia as well. Man you probably don't even know I'm blue.

Chapta 1: Saturday morning news:

Okay, so now that you know me or don't, me and the family were watching the morning news. Sarah Hatoff was talking live at the natural history museum and she said someone found a dinosaur tooth smack in the middle of their very own backyard. Anyways, Sarah interviewed the person, and the museum inspected the tooth and it was legit, it was a real tooth. But then the museum said thanks for helping to finish their real model of a t-rex and they closed the doors on him and he didn't get anything but a 20% off visit coupon for the next time he wants to go. Man, that dude got ripped off. But then Amy switched off the tv and said she was gonna whip up some breakfast for the family.

Then I got to do some thinking, and I at first I thought of that time Tails wee wee'd his ice cream when it fell on the ground. But then I was thinking about making my own discovery, that no one has ever seen before! But then I was back to thinking of Tails letting rip on that ice cream. Oh well, I guess the ice cream is long gone by now. Anyways I think Knuckles has gone crazy, or it's just me. So, what happened is Knuckles picked up charmy and asked him why didn't he make honey like the other bees. Then he looked around on charmy's whole body but he just couldn't figure out what it was that made other bees make honey. Then he spanked Charmy a bit but nothing but gas came out. Knuckles kind of had that coming. He he. Amy grounded Knuckles for 2 weeks now.

Oh well I'm starting to think that the world is going to be ended by aliens or something. Or some giant laser beam is going to come from space and blast mobius to pieces. Welp, Tails said we will have to wait upon our fate, or just wait until we all die of an old age. I don't know about that because I'm still in great shape after thirty years of in existence. For some reason though, I can't put my finger on it, but I'm still fifteen years old after thirty years of being in existence.

I think I'm going to need to ask Tails again about what does he want to be when he grows up.

Cream was watching Barney the dinosaur on YouTube, since PBS kids took it away a long time ago. Then I remembered that google said that Barney is evil. Well that was the time when I searched up if Chucky Cheez is evil. But I decided I had to save the girl so I put the chicken squad on disney junior. Cream got really sad and started shedding tears and oh my goodness that girl is super easily sad if you make one wrong move. But I kneeled down and I told her I was just keeping her away from the "forces of evil". But then she ran to the kitchen and didn't come back to finish the new episode of the chicken squad. Amy shot me a dirty look, and that told me that now wasn't the time for a chili dog.

Tails was in his workshop but he was eating a croissant, so I asked him if he could help me make a really big discovery, like maybe help me find a ufo that has crashed landed on mobius. But then Tails said that I was being stupid because aliens aren't real. But Tails shouldn't be talking since we don't know yet the probabilities of what other life forms there can be out there. Then Tails said if I needed a alien I should ask NASA. That's the last time I ask Tails something like that again. Plus, Tails will be shocked if I do go on to make a universe changed discovery.

Mario was watching me from outside. I don't know what has got into his head. I went to the funny man and took off his hat. Then Mario raised his eyebrows and then said, "Hey stinky, you want to pick a fight with me???" Then I replied to him saying that no, because he is too fat and I really shouldn't make him waste his morning energy. Then Mario got mad, but he kept himself together, and smiled at me for 28 seconds. I wasn't expecting what he did next, I thought he would say "Oooooooh spaghetti..." But instead the little man yeah hooed me and jumped on my head making me lose my rings. I was going to spindash him but when I was going to hit him, he grabbed me while I was still spinning. Then he slammed me into the ground. Then I got the chaos emeralds, but Amy said no fighting on the front lawn and took the emeralds away. I was about to say it wasn't what it looked like but then she said, "Back inside the house mister". I looked outside and Mario said that it was not the last time I will see him. I went upstairs and then I saw Shadow playing Super Mario Bros®. But I got upset, even though he was criticising it a lot. I took the game and told him to play Fnaf 2.

Then I went to bed to take a nap because this day has been really weird. Like, uncomfortably weird. Or maybe it's because of the smell of Blaze's perfume she got for Sally as a gift. Or maybe because of Cheese making me eat grass the other day. Now if you are wondering why he did that, it was because he got me to play horsie ride. Just by sad chaoing and making cute chao eyes. I need to remember to never step foot in front of Cheese and then stretch and say that I have literally nothing else to do. That chao's smart though. Amy didn't put Bluey on the tv and then he got a cloth on a stick and put his toy blocks and puppy stuffy in it and got Knuckles to open the door by giving him 2 dollars from his piggy bank. The he went out the door and pretended he was going to be homeless. Then Amy shrieked and scooped up Cheese and put pass the parcel on the tv. It turns out Cream was in on the plan too. But Cheese somehow got Knuckles to open the door just for two bucks.

Chapta 2: The WarioWare Attack:

Today I woke up from the most girliest dream ever. Like, eww, that was way too girly. The dream was that Amy transformed me into a girl just for one day, but a whole bunch of guys were flirting with me. But since I was a "girl just for one day", I kicked them in their wee's and they peed on the sidewalk. Then all of a sudden my brother Manic came and he was like totally in love with me. HIS BROTHER. We went on a date after we went in the tunnel of love, then Manic said: "Fair maiden, you're like a country-side sunset, warming my heart, having all the sunflowers point in your direction. You make my eyes tear, for your beuty and grace. I know it has only been 1 hour and 43 minutes since we have met ... But... Will you marry me?? I promise to be your loving husband for forever and ever. That may be, because not only you are pretty on the outside... You have a kind heart." Then I took of the makeup with some water from the tunnel of love and washed the makeup off. Then I took off the dress and high-heels and Manic saw who his dream girl really was. I hated to disappoint my brother, but I just couldn't take all the mushyness. At first Manic got his drums and played them and got his cymbals and clapped my head with them. Ouch! Then he said I had to get his dream girl back. Then I explained it all to him and he then started to understand. I saw him walking away and put on the makeup and dress and went to kfc again and then he said I could get back to my old self. We laughed it off and had a good time.

That was a really weird dream but eh. But when Manic came over he said he had finally found a girl who understood him, and the picture he had was ME. I don't know how that's possible. I need to get some "acme think straight pills".

Soon I went on my computer and signed in to it. But when I went to open microsoft edge to go onto the Nintendo store, cmd.exe popped up to ruin my fun. Then it closed the browser and disappeared. I went to Tails room where he was doing a jig-saw puzzel. Then I pushed it off the tabel and put my laptop on his table and asked him if I was getting hacked. Then he said I might have a virus or malware. But when I asked him to find out if that really was the case he searched up "Types of malware" in google chrome on my phone. Then according to Tails I had a new type of malware called "The WarioWare virus". Although I gotta say that name makes sense. Since it's malware, and Wario has his own game called Wario Ware. You probably didn't get it. If you did though, you can pat yourself on the back. Anyways, I told Tails he had to do something. Then he found Microsofts number and put me on the line. But the guy said he was on the Nintendo store getting a gift for his dog Scooby-Doo. There was nothing suspicious about that, at all. Then I re-called and I was speaking to Bowser. Man, Mario characters are weird. Anyways, he said there was the way of paying for the laptop to be fixed or to get a new one. But I WAS NOT going to take that as advice. I always do MY WAY. I jumped inside my laptops screen and I thought my eyes would be damaged from the blue light. But Tails lowered the brightness for me and I was on the taskbar. Then I jumped on files like Bowser said, "in case if I was a cheap guy". Then I found a file named WarioWare. I touched it and selected delete file. But it said I did not have permission to do that. But I jumped in and found the WarioWare virus. I homing attacked him but that made me get stuck in a game. The WarioWare virus was not going to go down that easy. Then I had to do a boss battle and I beat him. But then he ate doritos in front of me and faded away for good. Well, I hope so....

Tails got me an anti-virus and I guess now I won't be experiencing THAT ever again. But I don't know, that WarioWare virus might get some immunity in the future and I might actually have to spend more money on a new laptop. I just hope that won't be the way things will turn out later on.

I went downstairs and I saw the boys watchin' Football. WITHOUT ME. I tried to get their attention but they just wouldn't notice me. Finally Mighty told me I had to get my racket re-strung. I got so mad at that comment. Then I told them if they were going to leave me out like that, then fine, I'll find something better and more wholesome to do. Then Silver made a stupid joke, and it was: "If you are looking for something wholesome to do, you must be missing out of the great advantages of wholesome bread". That was it, I went to the garage and got to work on finding what to do. Then I found a lottery ticket. I don't usually trust that stuff, but I was going to give it a shot. Then I got three strawberrys in a row. I didn't know what that meant, but fortunately I won. I was in front of the boys and I was "Woo-hooing" in their faces. But when I told them I won Tails overheard and said that thing was really old. He said Amy got that thing in 2007. Then I asked Amy why didn't she try and see if she would win, but then she said she didn't want to win because it takes out the importance of life. So apparently no-one at all won the 2007 lottery. I'm blaming you for that again Crash Bandicoot.

I went to my room, and got on my Nintendo switch . Then I saw in the play-time history that someone was playing "Blaze and the monster machines- AXLE CITY RACERS". Then when I opened the game to see how much progress the person who played it had, It said that they didn't even start the game. But then I went to the Nintendo switch home screen and I saw a new profile on it. When I checked the name of it, it said Cream+Cheese. Then I went to see those two's progress, they had beaten the game fourteen times. I don't know why or how they even got that game, but I decided it was time for more investigations. I snuck into their room and tried to see if I could listen for a conversation of them talking about the game. But they were just talking about how Mandy Mouse used to be a idea of a Disney character. I walked over to them and asked them if they knew anything at all about "Blaze and the monster machines- AXLE CITY RACERS" and how that someone beaten the game fourteen times. But they confessed and said that yes, and that they were both allowed to by Amy. Okay, now that's great and all, but that's also just wrong. I might have to speak to Amy about that.

Oh well, after some time I brushed my teeth and ate Tail's omelette. It was so scrumptious I rated it 5 stars but Amy was mad at me because she now had to make Tails a new omelette. Anyways, I went outside and I saw Mario stealing the clothes Amy hung out to dry earlier that day, Mario left Knuckles gym socks there still. I think that's mainly because of the sweat stains that never wash off. I walked over to him and asked him what in the world was he going on about. Then Mario stole my amazing shoes. But he said I can keep my rodent socks. I got mad, but I stayed chill because Espio got a fan to cool both my body and my temper down. I said thanks and got a broom and swept the little spaghetti boy off of my lawn. He was going to come back but a car ran over him. Ouch, that must've hurt. Oh well.. It's all good now cuz Luigi brought Mario to the hospital after he said: "Mario, NOOOOOOOOOOOOO!" But Mario was alive so I went back inside. Amy said we need to support our neighbours, and then she FORCED ME TO WRITE A GET WELL CARD. To Mario. I put Knuckle's dirty gym socks in the envelope instead of candy or money. I only wrote, "Feel betta you big bucko."

Luigi came over to our house and said that Mario has to spend 2 weeks and 3 days at the hospital. Okay, now I felt worse. I gave Luigi the card so he can give it to Mario, and then I closed the door feeling bad for Mario. Oh well, I got over it quickly because he shouldn't have been taking our clothes anyways. Mario's safe for now, because since he's at the hospital I'm not going to tell anybody about what he was doing here in the first place. But next time, I won't spare a single word about what he did.

Chapta 3: The stupid family picnic:

Welp, then after that was over, I wanted to go to the town park. But Amy got excited and said the family was going to have a picnic at the park. I was going to tell her I was just going to have some time for myself, but she just told everyone to get ready. I decided that all that was fine, as long as I bring one of my nintendo switch game cards and I'll be fine. Amy took notice of my nintendo switch, (Which I put Super Mario Kart in), but Amy said no games. Well, she took my idea of a nice good afternoon and had to tell everyone we were going to havea picnic. Now I feel like I'm the grout monster from Diary of a Wimpy Kid: Wrecking ball. She said no-one was bringing any devices. She then said I can bring my phone, but only to use it if I have to.

When we got to the park, it seemed like everyone in mobius was there. No joke. I even saw Cuphead and Mugman playing with a frisbee. But wanna know what sucks? We were the last one's to show up, and we could only sit by the road on the dirty brown grass. Amy unfolded the giant blanket and put it on the ground and said we have to be grateful for this wonderful privilege. Then she started yapping and yipping on about how there's some children out there who can't get a good education and that they have to dig in trashcans and steal just to feed themselves. I just went under a nice and shady tree and got my phone out and there was no internet. I opened calculator to goof up some time, but Amy said that was not a healthy option. I thought calculators were for helping you better understand MATH.

Mayor mobius went to the middle of the park and his body-guards called a helicopter, and he had a whole luxury-relief picnic. It had a tv, xbox, pc, gaming counsels, a fridge, and he even had a kitchen where chefs were making yummy food for him. Like dude, no offense, but you don't have to be showing up to make our day more cringe than it already is. Then mayor mobius said he'll let everyone get a free dinner at 6 PM. I don't know how that is supposed to make things any better. But oh well. Then Amy got a basket with water balloons inside and said we could play with those until it was sunscreen time. Then all of a sudden Sans and Papyrus came and Knuckles wanted to play "You die" with them even though he promised WE could play together. Then Sans said I shouldn't steal his buddy. He said they'll be done in a bit. Then I kicked Sans ketchup bottle (By accident) and it went knocked out of the park. Then Sans raised his left hand and a clock appeared on it and all the time is apparently a "Bad time". Then I was in the game and I had to battle Sans but I missed in the eye thing to hit him and Sans damaged me so bad, but I couldn't heal myself. Then I clicked mercy but then Sans made a impossible to make move, until now. Then I died and respawned at the picnic blanket and Tails patted me on my head, but then that little twerp threw a water balloon at me. Now it was ON.... Fox boy. I grabbed 17 of the water balloons and threw them super duper ka-druper fast at Tails that he begged for mercy. But I didn't spare him and he couldn't breathe so I let him get some air. Then he tricked me and ran off towards the horizon even though that's sort of impossible to do. That's fine though, because I'll be ready for TAILS later. Eh heh he ha!

Then Amy called out to everyone that it was sunscreen time, so when I saw Tails coming over again I shoved him and told him that, since I'm the big buddy, I need my sunscreen worn first. But then Tails snatched the bottle from me and was about to squirt some sunscreen on his fur until Amy took it and said that the little ones need the sunscreen most of all. That's not fair, they're grown up, they can beat the heat, like come on. Once all of us were done we ate some Knuckles sandwiches and watermelon, and then the whole family ran off to play. I had no idea of what to do now, but I noticed that Knuckles was wearing his fake french mustache and his beret, so I wanted to check out what he was doing. Then he painted a picture of Amy, Cream, and Cheese. But when that bad boy was all done, Cream and Cheese saw how he did, and it turns out he drew them with human chins and eyes, and of course ugly noses. Amy was furious at this misbehaviour and got her piko-piko hammer, and threatened that Knuckles was going to have no nose at all if he kept doing this kind of stuff. I should feel bad but all I did was watch, at least I wasn't in that creepy painting that Knux made.

I saw Vector surfing and he was literally scared of a baby crab. But the cute little crab was going after him and it soon caught up to mister Crocodile. But Vector got some "courage" and poked the baby crab away. But that little guy has a really big family, because once Vector made that dumb move, the little guy shrieked and called out his ENTIRE family. They all were surrounding Vector and he had no escape. Then he called out: "Where's help for poor me when I need it?" Then Charmy and Espio had to save him and explained to him that if you be nice to little critters, they'll be nice to you. Or I think it might go the other way, like if you even get close to a little critter, you're pretty much looking for some trouble to get into.

Now I'm pretty sure ya'll know about mans best friend?..Uuh... Well in this family that's a whole lot different. So what was going on, was that Bean was on his hands and knees. That ducky boy was pretending to be a doggo. Well he ran up to Amy pretending he wanted something. But he DID want something. He started whimpering when Amy pushed him out of the way. Then Amy started working on some salad. Then Bean jumped on the table and ate Amy's wonderful salad. Amy said: "Put it back you big bucko, or else you will get the biggest whamming of your entire life!" Then Bean spit the salad out of his beak back into the bowl. I think what Amy really meant, was that Bean had to help make a new one. The boy made a big deal out of it, since it took her only 2 minutes to make it. Then Amy responded to that by making him make a birthday cake when it wasn't anyones birthday. Then once he was done, he had his ducky eyes and Amy couldn't resist and gave him what he came for. A scrumptious kfc bucket of chicken. He didn't even thank her. Then he ate it all and burped and said it was "Yummalicious". I think Amy was just disgusted by Beans dumb behaviour by now, because she didn't even wham that naughty boy.

I saw Shadow, and he went straight up to Gingerbrave betting that if he won the fight he was offering, he will have the 100% right to eat poor Gingerbrave whole. But then Gingerbrave took out his candy cane, and let me just tell you. It was one SHARP candy cane. Oh and it was shiny too. Shadow thought it over, and then he pretty much forfeited. Which meant, Gingerbrave got his part of the deal without moving a crumb. Also, by the way, Gingerbrave said that before, if he won, he gets Shadow's Team Sonic Racing car. Then I saw Gingerbrave and Chili Pepper test riding his car and it got scratched up super badly. Shadow got hustled, no lie my dudes. If he knew about that candy cane, he would've never lost his racing-car over to some cookies.

Oh, but we're going to have to get that car back some time later.

I went to the picnic blanket and had some lemonade. Cuphead and Mugman came, like a stampede of Spidermans and hulks, and they both stepped on Tails foot. When Amy told Tails it was going to be okay, and asked him to take off his shoe and sock, his foot was really banged up. He started crying, but hey, at least his feet were never as bad as Barks foot. By the way, Barks left foot is hideous. It has long black nails and skinny toes, with hair at the BOTTOM of his foot. But that did not cheer up Tails, and that might be because Mabel Pines took a picture of his feet with Wendy's phone, and posted the picture on every social media-ish website she could find. But that's not all. Ash Ketchum was training Pikachu, and from my point of view, Pikachu is never gonna evolve. Well, back to the story... Then Pikachu thunder-shocked Tails, and of course, his foot. He had smoke coming from him, but man, he smelled worsen than how he looked. Then Pikachu used iron-tail on Tail's foot toes?, and his foot was somehow back to normal. Then Tails said that he has to get a Pikachu for his birthday or for next Christmas. But next Christmas I'm going to get Tails a nail clipper, and a Doc McStuffins plushie. Also, not to bring down his hopes, but I'm getting a sausage pillow for his b-day. But it won't be made out of real sausages, so don't worry.

Then right at 5:59 PM, a snowstorm came and covered everybody with snow, oh and almost everything. Mayor Mobius had a roof for his luxury picnic spot. Then Amy told everyone she came ready for a natural storm, in case if one hit. We put on our Sweaters, jackets, hats, mittens, scarfs, boots, and sadly the long underwear. But I put jeans over the long underwear of course. Then Mayor Mobius said that it was such a shame, because everyone needs to get home to stay safe, and now they can't have a free dinner. But I checked Seek News 13, and it said that there was a snowstorm. I think what's going on is that Mayor Mobius knew that was coming, so that way he can be the only one to have free food. I'm hoping I won't have to have a problem with Mayor Dopius. But he's the Mayor, so I just hope this is one book he never touches. Everyone ran to their homes and they had to cook, now because of the mayor we have. But don't worry, because there will be another election next year, and Mayor Pickles said he'll be running for the term in office. God bless Mayor Pickles. Well, he's not OUR Mayor YET. He's the Mayor of townsville currently.

Chapta 4: The sweet Creamy Blur:

Okay so it's now the day after that whole snowstorm disaster, so anyways... I was playing Doors, but then when I went to Door 102 Seek, Rush, Screech, and Figure, all ran towards me and I got so ambushed. Oh well, that's how it's supposed to go. I'm a pro at this game, no-one is better than me. But then Charmy asked if I wanted to play Poppy Playtime, and I was IN for that idea. At the end Charmy and I didn't escape the factory of course, but then we saw the silhouette of Poppy in the wall. That was SO creepy. I had to take some time to rethink what I just witnessed.

Then I saw Cream getting into the bag of sugar. Then she grabbed a Loli-Pop and dipped it in cinnamon and then dipped it in the bag of sugar. I can't say I enjoyed seeing that girl get hype. She was all around the house at the same time. Well, not in reality, but yes it looked like there were Cream clones. Then Sally asked what was going on, and then I told her about how Cream took in so much sugar. But Sally didn't approve of how I took on the situation, then she told me, if I was so "Responsible", I should've grabbed the girl and made her drink a cup of water to wash the sugar away. But, I think that won't work now. It's too late for that, because Cream was running almost as fast as the speed of sound. Then the UPS guy came to our door with Tails new toolbox, but then Cream zoomed out the door when Knuckles opened the door and began to sign. Cream was going all over Mobius, but then I saw her running over to marbel zone. Now THAT was a real problem to worry about. I had to do something, so I ran after her. But when I finally caught up she jumped 27 feet into the air and started flying super fast. Or, should I say, DANGEROUSLY FAST.

Then I rushed all the way home and grabbed Tails and gave him one of my electric charged quills and told him he just had to get that little girl back. Also, I never mentioned, but Amy was at the Super-Market. But she was going to be back in less than two full hours. But we still had enough time to get her back.

Tails jumped off the platform where Cream began to fly and flew after her as fast as he, and the quill, would let him. Then Cream technically re-did 9/11, because she bumped into a plane super hard and it hit the eifel tower in Paris on earth. That was sad, but we had our own problems happening at the moment. Tails wasn't fast enough to catch up to Cream, so he had to give up. He was really tired so I gave him my bottle of orange juice and ran after Cream. I didn't think Cream's sugar rush was EVER going to end at this rate, so I turned super and soared after her. The citizens of Mobius were terrified of this horrible destruction and chaos.

It was a real doomsday, and that's just coming from ME.

Well, me and Tails solved the problem by giving Cream a gallon of nice, refreshing, clean, spring water. Then we brought her home, and we were JUST IN TIME TOO. Amy's car was pulling into the driveway and then I cleaned up the mess that Cream made before. Then Amy opened the door and it was like nothing ever happened, at all. I don't think Amy ever suspected a THING. Now again I'm saying, hopefully, because we never know, Amy might have placed cameras in our house to keep watch of what was going on while she had the whole day to shop at the Super-Market.

But then again, Tails might be a back-stabber, and he might've placed cameras around the house for Amy to see what we were doing. Naaah, that's just silly, Tails would never do such a thing. But then Tails ran up to me and said Amy found out about how I let a child take in 19g of sugar. I asked him how did she find out, and he said Cream told on me. I literally saved her, and that's how she repays me. By blaming the WHOLE thing on me, who didn't make her eat all that sugar. She literally had intentions of eating the sugar, I didn't make her consume it.

Oh well, I have to go now. This hedgehog is in some SERIOUS trouble. I'm not kidding. Also when I said Tails might be a back-stabber, I meant he could be trying to get me into trouble. So it's a metaphor?

Chapta 5: Shadows piano concert?

Today I woke up to a rough cloudy day. Okay, first of all, that was today. Anyways, Knuckles was watching the movie Spider-Man- Home steals souls. It was rated R, but I didn't care because none of the younger children were watching it. Then I saw Tails opening the cookie jar. Then I asked Tails, "What in the 2 dimensions I know are you doing?" Tails had a cookie in his mouth, so he couldn't talk without being busted. But I already KNEW what that kiddo was up to. I told Tails that the jig was up, and he can eat that cookie he has in his mouth, but he won't get any money to feed his pet fox in minecraft. I'm sorry, but his fox Tails Jr. is going to have to wait for his buddy. Oh and he can't play minecraft or any other game for 3 days. Tails was crying because his fox was going to starve, but he's literally a FOX and he has a FOX as a PET in minecraft.

Once Knuckles was done with his Spider-man movie, I got on the couch to see what stupid things actors were up to these days, like John Cena who adopted a Gorilla named Gloria. Gloria is like the most precious thing in the world to him. In his point of view, at least. That's because all the Wrestlers need John Cena to raise their salaries, and he retired from every single sport except the Mini-Golf league.

So basically SEGA made a theme song takeover of the Ghost and Molly McGee? Well, fortunately it is true. So basically the title or well name of the show is "Bean and Cream and Cheese". The theme song takeover goes like this???

Cream: You and I for all times, we three like to eat pie. We always always ALWAYS wanted a friend of mines. I wish you and me, we were best besties! It's Bean and Cream and Cheese. I can't believe, I can eat with you, and we always wanna play!

Cream: Nooo! It's Bean, Bean, Bean and Cream and Cheese! We're never gonna be apart!!!!!!

Bean: Umm excuse me, is there a way to restart?

Cream: It's Bean... Bean... Bean... and Cream & Cheese! It's Bean & Cream & Cheese!

Okay so anyways I hope Sega got permission from Disney to do that, I'm just saying.

Okay so Amy told everyone to get dressed because SHADOW was going to be at the "This dimensions got talent!" Place. That made me oh so suprised to hear. I mean, how does Shadow have a talent? Also, how is he so good at this "Talent" that he's the first ever member of this family to get an invitation to perform in Times Square. Honestly, don't get me wrong, I am happy for Shadow, but what DOES he have to get into that place. So, it turns out, yes, he plays the piano? That's not very shocking honestly.

But
do you wanna know what IS shocking. Well I'll tell you what's SO shocking. It's that if Shadow aces this thing, then he'll get a loan to help pay for college, and he'll be able to get famous really quickly if he moves on to be a famous musician.
When I was a little kid, it was not that EASY to get into a good college. You had to work really hard. Plus there was no air-conditioning in the classrooms. So if Shadow thinks he has what it takes for this thing, then I guess I can trust him not to ruin his future. Without my blue interference. That's okay though, because at least someone here isn't a cocoo head. When we went to the car it turns out that some stupid pigeons and other birds flew off with the car, because unfortunately it was what they needed for SAFE TRAVEL. Birds? Needing a car? Why is that so? I don't know. I mean, they have those little feathery wings, and they need a CAR. Okay so we now had to borrow Mario's car. I don't care what that plumbers going to do, because he should be glad HE'S not being forced to go. But then Mario stole his car back, well he didn't steal
it, he just took his car back. Welp, that left mostly the whole family to walk there.
But it was 9:45 AM and soon the show was about to start. Then Amy said maybe if I brought the whole family one by one to the concert the day will be saved. But I said only the star gets a speedy Sonic ride there. Everyone else had to run there. I came back and I was waiting for them to catch up. I saw Tails trip into a rain puddle. I helped him out and then Amy slapped me in my face for not helping the family get to Times Square.
It's
totally not my fault, she should've hired someone to guard the car overnight. Well, actually, the birds took our car as soon as I opened the door.
I had to carry everyone, but I didn't know about carrying Big. He's a pretty big guy.
I told him to take the Mb2 bus and hop on the 9 train. I was joking, but honestly, I'm not going to carry him. Oh and by the way the way, there was a 9 train, but it only was around from 1989 through 2005. Also it never went to Times Square. But, enough of the nerdy stuff. He had to take a taxi there. As much of me being sorry for Big, I did what I had to do for my arms at least. I payed for the taxi to show that I still care for him, which I do. I got Big a blue Ice-pop when we stopped by at the ice-cream shop and that cheered him up. Which is great news to me. I got the rest of the family a chilly snack and we all went inside the theatre. It wasn't as crowded as I expected.
Well, at that moment, at least. We got second row seats and then we waited until the show started. Knuckles was chewing on his popsicle stick, don't ask why, because
I don't know why. Amy threw out his popsicle stick, and now he had nothing to do.
But
we watched some advertisements on the movie screen until everyone was ready.
We

saw this ad that said that if you eat tangerines you actually get dehydrated really fast.
But Amy said they were great for hydration, and said that's a bunch of boloney.
Then I asked if she could get us salami instead, but apparantly I don't know that much about metaphors after all.
Then we saw one of those commercials about how we need to save the elephants and to please donate to the people who are helping them to help them stay alive. I got the idea of donating to those poor elephants. But, I actually sent a 800 robux gift card to one 11 of the poor elephants. Amy said I actually had to donate cash, but I bought the robux, it technically still has a real money value. I can't really undo what I just done, so lets just say that elephant is going to have a really cool looking avatar. Like so cool he will get real popular on there. Then there was a ad that Grillby's was going to be taken down, so they can add a car wash there instead. Well, it's going to be a plane wash. To wash PLANES.

I felt bad for Grillby, but Espio said not to pity him, because Grillby will find a way to save his resturaunt. I don't think that's how the world works, so sorry Espio. I just need to feel bad for Sans pal. After 46 minutes, the talent show started. The first act was performed by Bo and Flash from Firebuds. Bo and Flash were throwing a spider back and forth at each other. Which was probably because it was a jumping spider. It wasn't that funny. But then it jumped out of Bo's hands, and jumped into the big crowd of people. It jumped on all of the peoples heads, and eventually found its PERFECT VICTIM. It's victim was Little Boo, who's from the chicken squad. The little spider bited Little Boo's chicken leg, and it was swelling up. Now he had to go to the emergency room. After that miserable event was over, it was time for Tom and Jerry's act. For their act, Tom was dressed up as the fairy from Peter Pan, and Jerry got to be Peter Pan. Oof Tom, that's a big no no for him. So then Spike came, as Captain Hook the evil pirate. He bonked Tom, and said: "I hate you cat so much I'm gonna... I'm g-gonna....." He realized that there were a whole bunch of people watching, including the CHILDREN. Then they all danced like in Peanuts and I laughed so hard because Jerry took out the spikes, from Spikes collar. Then they all were in a huge fight and ended up getting kicked out by Dog Man and Cheif. Then our Mayor, Mayor Mobius, got on the stage and started playing the Horn so terribly. It was so awful, that I was thinking of everyone having their ears bleed..... When he was finished, he had to admit he never had that much practise and was just there for the prize money. But he didn't stand a chance. Just because he's the "Mayor" we're not going to let him win that easily. Then in the middle of Shimmer and Shines magic carpet ride act, Tails needed to go to the restroom. But Amy said I had to take him there. When we got to the bathroom, Tails went into the toilet stall, so he was going to do number two? Well, I waited for like 3 minutes and asked him what the hold-up was, and he said there was a lizard inside the toilet. When I opened the stall door, it was more scarier than a lizard, it was a 16.2-month old CROCODILE. We called animal control and they took the creepy menace out of the stall. But after that tails said he was going to hold his pee. So all this time we could have been watching the SHOW. Great, thanks for nothing Tails. Thats fox boy with two tails is going to pay for this. Soni-boy will get his revenge. Once we were done with Tails "Emergency" we sat back down in our seats. Shimmer and Shine were just finishing, but it's alright because tigers are kind of a chinese thing. The next act was of Dipper Pines and his sister Mabel, showing off Dippers sort of boring, discoveries about Gravity Falls. Then Mabel changed the SUBJECT, and started to talk about that picture of Tails feet, that she took back at the park. Then Wendy went on the stage, and said that it was her phone which was used to take the picture. Everyone, except our family were interested. But it was so funny even I was laughing at this presentation of Tails broken foot image. Some time after that it was one act until it was Shadow's time to shine. Then Schroeder from Peanuts got onto the stage and was pressing random piano keys slowly. Then he spinned his bow tie, and did a b-da-dum-da ba-dum-da-dum. Everyone KNEW what that meant, Schroeder was RICK-ROLLING us. But it was pretty good, I have to admit that. So good, that I might choose Schroeder as my favorite for the vote, unless Shadow can top "Never gonna give you up" by Rick Astley. Then Shadow gave an applause for Schroeder. Then he got his paino from home, and cracked his knuckles. Then Shadow said ahem as if he was going to sing. But he looked super serious. Then he started playing slowly. Like he wanted us to slowly feel the rythm. Shadow better not be trying to get us Rick-Rolled a SECOND TIME. Shadow was playing the song "Enemy" on his piano, and it was good, but i could tell he wasn't doing his best. When he was done, he turned to the audience, and he said: "This song is for the faker we all should know by now, Sonic the hedgehog!" Everyone was looking at me with curiosity, and a bit of concern. But I just sat back and relaxed. He raised his hand and started singing "Live and learn" but a bit differently... And what I mean by differently, I mean in his own WORDS. So basically like in summaries, when you have to write a book report but in your own words. This is basically how the song went.... "Oooooohhh, you better run, I've got a gun, I'm about to blow.... Oooooohhh, you better run, I've got a real life gun, you better duck low..... We're gonna play a game, you have to live & learn, and be grateful for what you have earned..... So ya betta duck, you're outa luck, and you literally suck..... Fine, you know the game, but you're all out of shame..... Good grief, this ain't no brightly colored coral reef, you betta fix your smiles teeth..... Yeah, that's how it's gonna go, I'm about to blow, yeah-eah-eah-ahh!!!! I have to admit, that was a good performance, apart from the fact that he was technically speaking directly to me. Once the votes were tallied, the loud-speaker person said the people who won will be announced in a little bit. Once the wait was over, Mr. Unicorn & Shaggy & Jet the hawk announced the winners. 3rd place was Mable Pines and Wendy, and I actually feel bad for Dipper, who was the one who deserved credit. 2nd place was Stan Pines puppet show. Which I never mentioned, mainly because of its cringe value. 1st place was either Schroeder or Shadow. The winner was Schroeder AND Shadow. But that's good because now Tails finally cut his nails, well, bited his finger nails off. We got Shadow, the big champ, a winners cake after the trophy and rewards ceremonie, and we went back home. So, I hope you got all caught up on this half weird, half awesome day.

Chapta 6: SEGA V.S. Disney World

Okay so basically I woke up today, as usual. I mean, if I DIDN'T wake up today, then I wouldn't have been writing in this book at all... Well, you get the idea... So basically I woke up today because I heard my phone ringing, and it was SEGA. I'm not telling a lie, they actually called me for an emergency. Anyways, Disney was threatening to sue Sega since they made a themesong takeover without using permission to use the sound and stuff. But if Disney thinks they're the innocent Bunny from down the rabbit hole, well we've got some of their own trash to dump into their laps. I don't know if you ever heard of their movie, "Chip n' Dale- Rescue Rangers", but I'll let you know how it goes if you haven't watched it. Well, in 1989 the original show released, and it ended in 1990. Well, it didn't last very long. So basically the movie was based off of that old show, but in the movie it was how the rescue rangers were apart from each other and stuff. That's all I'm gonna say, in case if you're gonna watch it. Well, in the movie, they added Ugly Sonic. So, you're like, "Who the heck is UGLY SONIC?" Well, Ugly Sonic was the original model for paramounts 2020 release of the Sonic movie. But he was so ugly fans didn't feel like it would raise the franchise up a notch. So... Instead, they made a new movie appearance for me. That's the movie Sonic who was in the official movie release. Well Sega got rid of Ugly Sonic, sort of... But in Disney's 2022 Chip n' Dale movie, they added ugly Sonic in two scenes. APPARANTELY, Disney never asked permission to use Ugly Sonic, and somehow, those jerks got away with it. Okay, back to the phone call part with SEGA. The Sega dude said that we had to go to the court and fizzle out the justice. But I don't know why he said "WE". I was not going to be hung out like laundry, and have sit out that whole debate. I told the Sega guy he was on his own for this one. But he said if we get guilty, our franchise will be open to the public, and then people can make fanmade Sonic games that can cost whatever price they want. Now that was an issue. Once I was done with the call, I told the family that we were going to go to court Charmy's.

When we arrived at the court, I payed the taxi-driver and we waved him goodbye. We went inside the building and there was a ton of people there. Well, not a ton, a gajillion people were there, okay fine. I was just exagurating the amount of people there seemed to be. We went to the right side of the court room, and we all sat down. The trial took a while to begin, but it finally started. Unfortunately, Charmy wasn't going to be the judge, the judge was going to be Cuphead, with his assistant/brother, Mugman. I don't want to trust them with this thing, but if they will make this quick, we'll be home free to have some Hot-Coco with Teeny-Tiny Marshmallows. Everyone was taking glances at us. Some poeple were whispering behind us and I heard a bit of what they said. They said that either one of us two franchises, Disney or Sega, can be ruined in this trial. I CAN'T say I don't agree with them on that. Anyways, "Judge Cuphead" said "Order in the court, can I have order in this court please!" Then he sank into his comfy judge chair and told the current Disney guy to share his side of the case. The current Disney owner, was sitting next to Mickey and the rabbit you may or not know, Oswald the lucky rabbit. Okay so if you want to know who Oswald is, Oswald was the first Disney character by the man Walt Disney himself. Oswald the lucky rabbit is technically Mickey's brother... But the Universal company were in some hot war with Disney and they then had Oswald to themselves. In 2006 Universal exchanged Oswald, and now he's an officail Disney character. Also by the way Universal owned Oswald, but I guess Walt liked him a lot and decided to make his first ever cartoon. Well, after Walt couldn't use Oswald anymore, he made Mickey, and he actually was going to name him Mortimer Mouse, and it's true. But his wife disliked that name and suggested that he should name the little mouse Mickey. Those are basically the backstories of both Oswald and Mickey.

But once we were starting the trial, I saw some weird Stickmin guy. I at first thought it was Henry Stickmin, but his name is actually Dipply. Basically, oh wait, I think I used that word a little too much now, so let's start that sentence a bit more... I don't know, with better used grammar? Okay, so here it goes... First of all, let me tell you what you can use to tell "Henry Stickmin" and "Dipply" apart. Dipply has pie eyes, which are the eyes that have a point in them, like a triangle, but the triangle makes a cut in the eyes. Honestly, I don't have a better way to explain Pie Eyes. But if you want, and you can, search up "Pie Cut Eyes". So anyways, Henry Stickmin has lines as his eyes. But they curve when he turns his eyes sometimes. Or, well actually ALL the time. Anyways, Dippy wears a furry scarf and Henry wears like nothing.

Dippy also has boots, and gloves. In Henry Stickman games, sometimes you get to use a pair of Plumber shoes or something. In one of the games, Henry wears MY shoes. Well not an official pair, Phew. Okay, now that you have a general idea of Dippys appearance, I will tell you his backstory. Back then, when Walt Disney, (Creator of Disney), was on a double decker bus, he was heading to the statue of liberty, to make a American freedom Mickey Mouse animation. He never made it, but it was supposed to have Mickey wearing American Flag styled clothes. But anyways, Walt was thinking about how he lost the little rights he had for Oswald, who was part of his first, earliest cartoons in the history of Televised animation...

On the bus, he was thinking of all sorts of characters he might use in future cartoons. One of them was Dippy, who at the time has Mickey gloves and shoes. When Walt got off of the bus, he walked aorund a bit after the short bus ride. He wondered about Mickey, thinking of the new friends he could give to the little mouse. Some time later, he looked out at the boats on the water, from Lady Libertys head. It must be an amazing view, but until Cheese learns to fly when he isn't on the ground, we'll still worrying about him falling. Back to the background story. 7 weeks later, Walts wife was cleaning up the house while he was at work. She found the sketchbook he had currently, and flipped through the pages. While she expected to find Mickey and Pete, she found a stickman. When Walt got home in time for supper, he found his drawings on the kitchen table. He was a bit upset that his wife looked through his sketch-book, but he realized if she knew Mickey would be succesful, then Dippy should have a turn in the spotlight. For eight months Walt worked on a pair of animations. The first one was named, "Dippy the little person: 'Witch bone brew'". The other one was named "Dippy the little person: 'Train ride catastrophy!'"... Both were released on June 11th, 1923, and weren't the most popularist at the time. Lots of people were excited to hear the news that Walt made a new character. But it ended up dissapointing the fans of Oswald, Mickey, and Pete. From that point, Walt had to quit working on Dippy. Dippy isn't heard that much these days. But he's not that well known, so it's best if they don't introduce these characters in the middle of our preparations for the first quarter of the 20th century.

Anways, I think I might have bored you to tears by now, so let's just move on with the things occurring right now. I think that'll be best for everyone...

Hey guys, it's me, Sonic! look at these yellow-as-butter teeth! Heee-HAWWWWWWWW!!!!!! I'mmmm Sooooooooonnnnnnnnnnniiiiiiicccccccckkkk!!! (Okay, now I will get back to telling the story.)

So anyways, Mickey was so chill, but Oswald was like, "DUDE, it's just a ripoff Walt, they didn't sell it to make money off of your general idea!" But Walt said that even shows from cable-vision have their additional character and music agreement rights. Then Amy sat up straight and said if this was going to be a fair, and square trial, they have to let every witness share their side to the story. Tails and Oswald and everyone else agreed that was the only way we all will make it out of here, ALIVE. Just kidding, we won't die or anything. So anyways, OF COURSE, the CHAOTIX went first. AND MAN, did Vector have a LOT to say about how Disney is just a big FRAUD. This is what he said, (for the long run.)

"First of all, let me be clear to you and me, everyone!" Vector puts on his reading glasses. "Sonic, I must recall that on June 23rd, of 2022, you told me that the movie title "Chip and Dale 'Rescue Rangers'" had ugly Sonic?" He peered at me through his translucent rectangular paneled glasses. "Yes." I exclaim. "I mean, you could ask ANYONE here, and they'll say yes!" He shuffles through the evidence papers. "Ah, yes, Mr. Sega owner, did Disney get you or any of your staff members, from SEGA, or the Sonic team, your permission to use this character?" Mr. Sega remained calm as he straightened his tie and cleared his throat. "No sir, no one at Sega, nor the Sonic team branch of Sega received a digital or physical form of permission asked for." Vector looked straight at him and me. "Okay, did Disney come to you in person, or let you know they'd use 'Ugly Sonic'?" "No sir, not at all!" "Hmm, Mr Walt? Or is just Walt or Disney fine?" Walt folded his hands on the table, and crossed his legs in an orderly fashion. "Just Walt is fine, I think, Mr. interrogator." Vector glanced back at Walt one more time, and resumed reading off his proof papers once more. There was a pause in the room, a real silent and uneasy one. I could sense Tails nervousness even though he was standing in between Amy and Knuckles. Amy kept shifting from standing on one leg to the other. Walt sipped a bit of his water. "Okay.... You, never got any granted permission from Sega, the Sonic team individually, or Paramount to use this character?" Walt barely blinked before starting to speak. "I, well, no sir, I never asked or written any letter for the legal rights of using the character." Vector tapped the side of his glass, (let side), with both his index finger and middle finger. "Okay, that's just one of the many claimed charges against Disney everyone..." He sighed and flipped the paper, slapped it onto the desk, and told a security guard to put it in his folder cabinet in his office... WOAHH, hold on, rewind for me there... It said: "To put it in his folder cabinet in his OFFICE." Yeah, that's right, he told the guard to put it in a folder cabinet in his OFFICE. O-F-F-I-C-E. Dang Vector, you already have a office even though you might quit this job after about 2 weeks and 9 cases? Well, he must be a professional, and has never gotten the opportunity before now to show his skills. Man, I am glad I never went to Law school. REALLY GLAD.

Anyhoo, Vector turned to Mr. Sega and asked him how would he like the court to respond to Walts, and also Disneys injustice. Then Knuckles got an opera outfit for overweight ladies and said: "Let Mr. Sega sue him and his company!" But then Vector chuckles and says: "You really think your the mouse out of this game, with the cat and mouse, Mister Echidna?" But Knuckles slammed his fists on the table and said: "You literally KNOW ME! I'm one of your family members! Call me by the name you usually call me!" Vector shifted in his seat. "I will ignore your court disturbance youngster, and I hope for everyone else to do so as well!" Then he stamped and officail paper, and gave it to the same assistant from before. He grabbed a pen and signed a contract for a $6,000 tax against Disney. They should glad they won't be losing millions.

Anyways, he put his pen back in his pencil holder, and turned back towards Walt and Mickey. He asked Mickey if he knew about how Sega stole the "Ghost and Molly McGee" from Disney. Mickey shuddered after hearing that and hesitated a second before giving his response. "Yes sir, I remember Walt showing me and everyone else at Disney world's castle... It was a terrible deed they committed." "Mmmhmm, so it is, so it is..."

Replied Vector while popping a peppermint into his mouth. Tails said, eww, because he doesn't like Pepper-Mints. Honestly, I can't say I disagree, but they aren't that bad. Then Vector stamped a bill, signed a contract, and he said it was all over. "Everyone may leave their seats to go home." He gave me a tax paper, but I thought we would be home free out of THIS whole mess. It was only for $2,340. Luckily Mr. Sega's the one who needs to pay, because he and God knows who else were part of this scandal.

"Hallelujah, that's all over!" Charmy said. YES, Hallelujah! Everyone felt the same way. I asked Vector is he wanted to drive home with us, but he said he needed to investigate some chaotix cases. He didn't ask for Charmy and Espios, which is really cruel on them.... (Mainly the Beeboy....) But Charmy's cute watery baby eyes couldn't make Vector give in this time. "Hey, it's alright guys, it's me, I was changing my attitude for the court trial!" He said once Charmy raised his stinger at him, and Espio got out his Ninja Starz.

"Oh, phew! I thought you were a gonna, you raisin brain!" Charmy giggled out. Vector explained to everyone he was just organizing their detective agency's office. So that was the "office" he spoke about. Hey, it's close to the bakery and cafe, so that's a sweat deal!

Chapta 7: The great Chefs day cookoff!

Alright! Hey guys, it's me! Sonic! SO.... Now that I told you that crazy thing that happened some days ago...

Wanna hear about what happened yesterday? It wasn't the best day ever, but it wasn't the worst either!

It was a pretty normal Sonic family day out! Like it usually should be! OKAY, I'M KIDDING. Every day has to, and I mean HAS TO, have something crazy or interesting happen. Just for you information, is you think your best time ever was a fire drill at school, you are missing out in LIFE!